Sesame executive chairman Ivan Martin and Lifesearch managing director Tom Baigrie have scooped awards for their work in the IFA sector.

At this year's Scottish Widows IFA awards in London, Martin picked up an award for industry personality of the year, while Baigrie was awarded industry initiative of the year.

Other winners include Helm Godfrey head of employee benefits Roger Sanders, handed lifetime achievement award, and Bankhouse IFA Tristan Freer who was voted IFA newcomer of the year.

Clerical Medical/Halifax Life managing director John Van Der Wielen says: "This is the fourth year we've run the awards which celebrate success, talent and effort in the IFA community. I would like to congratulate all of our winners and wish them continued success."
